Paragraph : My Favorite Restaurant

Hotel Nirob is my favorite restaurant. It is in Lalbag. One of the most important characteristics of the restaurant is that, it has more than 20 items of curry. It has different kinds of meat, “vorta”, vegetable curry, fish, fry etc. Their food quality is better than other restaurants and their food’s price is cheaper than other. They are very strict about their quality. Another good side of that restaurant is that, they have made a good environment. This restaurant is good for launch actually. Many student and people from different lifestyles come here. At noon, it is hard to manage to sit here, though it is two storied. People can take food to outside and so that they have built up a good packing process. They are very professional and expert about serving food. The carries are served in small stele made plates; it is another interesting point. Though I live in Azimpur a little bit far from the restaurant, but whenever in get chance I try to sit for a launch.
